Join an Afternoon of Play and Art-Making at the Family Party, the Brooklyn Museum's Annual Family Benefit on January 27

Hosted by KAWS
Canis and Dao-Yi Chow

The Family Party, the Brooklyn Museum's annual fun-filled family benefit, returns on Sunday, January 27, from 3 to 6 pm. Adults and children will enjoy mind-expanding art projects and activities led by Brooklyn-based artists and Museum educators throughout the Museum's Beaux-Arts Court, located on the third floor. Multidisciplinary artist KAWS, and Public School's Dao-Yi Chow with his wife, Canis, will serve as Event Hosts, alongside additional participating artists. Proceeds from the event will support the Museum in continuing to make innovative exhibitions and free or low-cost education and outreach programs accessible to thousands of people each year.

The afternoon's highlights include a bouncy castle, a kid-run dance party, art-making activities, and a custom photo booth, among other offerings. Snacks and beverages—for kids and adults—will be available throughout the afternoon. Guests will also receive a goody bag full of Brooklyn-made products for the whole family to enjoy.

Featuring artist projects by:

Jon Burgerman

Jen Catron & Paul Outlaw

Studio Jeremyville

Tickets and packages are as follows:

- Family Champion: $2,500 (Includes 8 tickets and recognition as a Family Party Host Committee member)
- Family Visionary: $1,000 (Includes 5 tickets and recognition as a Family Party Benefit Committee member)
- Friend Ticket (Adult): $125
- Kiddie Ticket (Child 2–13): $75

The Brooklyn Museum offers classes, camps, and other programs for children, teens, and adults to enjoy throughout the calendar year. Each year, the Museum welcomes thousands of children and families to its Gallery/Studio Program, school visits, teen events, hands-on art-making, and other enriching programs.
